

Term Five has been a wild one as we started off the topic by the screams of Miss Ng, where she explained that she had seen a lion in our classroom! We went to investigate and found camera footage of a lion lying on our carpet. The lion had left us a special message and her monkey friend Maya, with a few clues to our next topic. With our superb detective skills, we quickly realised that we were going to learn all about Africa!

We began our 'Walk on the Wild Side' by collating our knowledge of the main attractions of Africa, where we concluded that we all felt a strong interest towards the different animals that lived there. We delved into researching and learning about animal habitats, African tribes and different African stories and cultural traditions.

Our trip to Paignton Zoo was an absolute blast! We were able to look closely and identify animals that also lived in Africa. This led us to discuss about how different animals were better suited to different habitats due to adaptation.

We had a very special visitor originating from Uganda, that shared the story about the Rain King and all the animals and people that begged for rain to come. The story came to life as we used our bodies and unique African instruments to add colour and flair to our performance.

As we closed our term's topic, we had the fantastic opportunity to Skype St Peter's International school in Ghana. We made sure to ask all the questions we were desperate to know and learnt lots from the experience.

What an absolute blast Term 5 has been!
